

Prophetic Word...

"Listen to what I have to say, dear one! I'm about to breathe fresh life into your soul and there'll be no missing it. You've waited a long time for your breakthrough and that moment is almost upon you. I will send messengers, one after another to confirm My word to you. Don't be afraid, only believe. Dare to take the risks I've put before you. Trust Me with every step. You don't have to keep yourself. I am your keeper. It brings My heart great joy to unleash you into this next season of your calling. I will silence your accusers and bless those who've been kind to you. Your test was also their test. Take time to reflect on My goodness. I am forever for you. The battle on the earth is about to amp up. You'll need to keep your armor on at all times. Don't take things personally. Stay fierce in battle and focused on the mission I've set before you. Quit wondering if I have a plan. Start preparing for it instead. Wait with expectancy for I will surely come for you. I love you, dear one!"

© 2018 by Susie Larson. All rights reserved.